LESS IS MORE

Urban minimalism is not the ultimate pursuit of "less" and "empty". They seem to reduce the desire for material things, but in fact, they portray the exquisite pursuit of life into their bones. In the hustle and bustle of a city, simple tranquility is especially valuable. Urban minimalists expect the bathroom to be free and comfortable, free of impurities, and full of the temperature and connotation of life.

Make things as simple as possible, make them as durable as possible, reduce maintenance and repair as much as possible, avoid those expressionistic forms and structures that have no rational relationship with nature, and satisfy people's lifestyle and attitude. This is the quality of simplicity and also the attitude of minimalism.
